

Invisible beauty has a word so brief / A flower can say it . . .
Grace Hazard Conkling

There's rosemary, that's for remembrance; . . .
and there is pansies, that's for thoughts.
William Shakespeare

*I have a garden of my own,
But so with roses overgrown,
And lilies, that you would it guess
To be a little wilderness.*
Andrew Marvell

*Sweet is the garden, white with bloom,
Heavy with honey, drenched with scent.*
Katherine Hinkson

*I know a little garden-close,
set thick with lily and red rose,
Where I would wander if I might
From dewy morn to dewy night.*

William Morris

*The more one gardens, the more one learns;
and the more one learns, the more
one realizes how little one knows.*
Vita Sackville-West

A Garden is a lovesome thing . . .
Thomas Edward Brown

Some measure days by dreams/ And some by flowers...
Madison Julius Cawein

... half a proper gardener's work is done upon his knees.

Rudyard Kipling

... gardening itself — the privilege of working with water, earth and sky to produce both sustenance and beauty.

Sara Williams